MID-REVOLUTIONARY MORES

Custer's Last Stand . . . Playaround, a video-game corporation that recently took charge of sales and distribution rights for three games from American Multiple Industries (AMI), has discontinued production of Custer's Revenge. (See "Gazette," January, 1983.) AMI had marketed the game despite protests by Women Against Pornography and other groups who found the adult video game insulting and degrading to Native Americans and women.